WE NOMINATE

Karl Barth, probably the world's most respected Protestant theologian, who this week—as the leading light in Princeton Theological Seminary's splendidly conceived Sesquicentennial Celebration—has won the heart and attention of all segments of the Princeton community. It is entirely conceivable that over the course of six days this about-to-be 76 Swiss scholar, whose "uniquely modern thought" pivots around the ancient realities of faith, the Bible and the church, will establish relationships with upwards of 15,000 persons through his series of public lectures in the University Chapel and informal sessions with fellow professors, students and the press.

On his first trip to the United States, whose history he has carefully studied with unusual emphasis on the Civil War, Barth has been receiving from major newspapers the kind of notices generally reserved for papal encyclicals. A week ago he took Chicago by storm and this past Sunday evening, in making his initial Princeton appearance, attracted a capacity throng of 2,000. While he is little known to laymen, and is found "difficult" by some theologians, a sampling of Princeton audience reactions produced only enthusiasm for his challenge to modern scepticism under the awesome title, "Theological Beginnings: An Introduction to Evangelical Theology."

Seminary President James McCord has pointed out that Barth "bestrides the theological world like a colossus." In more specific and restrained terms, the University of Chicago, in presenting the honorary Doctor of Divinity Degree, attempted to pinpoint his position: "Barth's concern is to reassert the centrality of God over against the centrality of man in the method and message of theology. He has devoted a lifetime of research, writing and teaching to this concern. Among his numerous writings, the 12-volume 'Church Dogmatics,' massive in scope, brilliant with insights, provocative and persistent in point of view, though yet unfinished, has already taken its place among the great Christian dogmatic writings."

Although Barth takes strong issue with what is often called "popular humanistic Protestantism," he is wonderfully human and warm and has a contagious appeal for younger people. His writings on Heaven, Prayer and Scripture are punctuated with witty observations. For instance, in discussing temperance, he noted: "One may be a nonsmoker, abstainer and vegetarian, yet be called Adolf Hitler." His love of music, and also his humility, shine through the statement: "If I ever go to Heaven, I would first inquire about Mozart, and only then about Augustine, Thomas, Luther, Calvin and Schleiermacher."

The son of a Swiss theologian and largely trained in German universities, Barth has been Professor of Dogmatics on the theological faculty of the University of Basle — ever since he was banished from Hitler's Germany on the charge that he was "seducing the minds" of German students. A 54-year old volunteer with the Swiss Army's border patrol in World War II, Barth had risen to eminence in the University of Bonn, but spoke out in anger when Nazism attempted to establish "German Christian churches." He refused to take an oath of allegiance to Hitler, disdained opening his classes with any kind of a Nazi salute, and returned to accept a professorship specially created for him in his native Basle.

For his continuing development as one of the most powerful forces in 20th century Protestant thought; for giving his listeners added insights into the meaning of theology; for his major contributions to an anniversary celebration of far-reaching importance to all of Princeton; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

"I SPEAK ENGLISH!" "Y" Taught Me How.

There is a soil physicist from the University of Hokkaido, Japan . . . a frisky-eyed young girl who has come from Germany to be a mother's helper . . . a practical nurse from Chile . . . an ex-newspaperman from Argentina . . .

They are among the 70 men and women who are learning English, sometimes from the noun up, at classes taught in Princeton at the YWCA, Avalon Place.

Actually, 70 is a low figure. In the fall when ambition and the academic year are just beginning, the "Y" has almost 100 and they stay through the winter term to learn. But when spring comes, and the classwork has provided perhaps just enough English to get along, the enrollment drops.

All English classes at the "Y" are taught by volunteers who must cope, in the same class and at the same time, with people who speak English, Japanese, Swedish or German, and may not be very learned even in their own tongue.

How Teachers Plan. Often the instructor speaks only English. Often she has had little teaching experience. Usually she feels her own way and works out her own curriculum, basing it on the interest and level of her pupils.

One speaks, incidentally, of a teacher as "she" but there is one man—David Serchak, who teaches French at Witherspoon School.

"These teachers are often the only Americans these students see," explains Mrs. Richard Colman, whose International Club provides sociability for the students after lessons are over at 9 on Thursday nights.

"For the Japanese or German wife of a scholar at the Institute for Advanced Study, English classes may be the sole contact with America," Mrs. Colman says, "so the teacher is very important. Sometimes she has to be a psychologist, a dating bureau, or a personnel director."

Understanding Essential. "Teaching experience is not required," Mrs. Colman says. "What is needed most is a sympathetic person who enjoys people from other countries and cultures."

Mrs. Colman recalls one student who became seriously ill in class. She could speak almost no English and she knew no one in Princeton. The teacher took her to the hospital, stayed with her until the crisis in her illness had passed, visited her daily and explained to the patient's family the requirements of signing permission for an operation, and so on.

A teacher who volunteers finds herself in a small class, usually with no more than eight or ten. Beginners, intermediate and advanced students are grouped together, of course, but the level of proficiency in the student's own language varies so that there is not so much homogeneity as one might think.

In a beginning class taught by Mrs. Harvey Cahn, there are young German girls, a matron from Cuba and a girl from Hungary.

"We have so much fun in the class from people who say somezing vat is wrong," announces one girl. Mrs. Cahn explains that "somezing vat" is incorrect, and there is a brief grammar lesson, and a drill on the pronunciation of "th" and "w."

In the beginner's text is a paragraph about the discovery of Manhattan Island, with insistent repetition of that preposterous word "island."

Mrs. Cahn asks the meaning of the word "discover." No one knows. The German girl says "Entstecken?" "Yes," says Mrs. Cahn, "but I at doesn't help Mrs. Gonzales . . . "discover" means to see something for the first time."

The German girl smiles brightly at a visitor in the back of the room: "I discover the lady visitor!" she exclaims.

In an advanced class, Mrs. Harry D Feltenstein explains the differences between English and American spelling—"colour" and so on—and the distinctions between certain idiomatic expressions.

What is the difference between "to call up" and "to call down"? "To take out" and "to take in?" "To hold off" and "to hold on?"

The level of these students is already high, and the young man asked to explain "to call down," says "It means to admonish."

Fund Raising Report

Twelve Princeton residents have accepted honorary sponsorship of the Princeton High School Choir European Tour Campaign and two parents have organized a committee of choir member families to raise funds for the tour.

The honorary sponsors are Lee Bristol, Jr., Thomas P. Cook, Dan D. Doyle, E. W. Engstrom, Roger Sessions, R. Kenneth Fairman, J. Merrill Knapp, Mrs. C. McKim Norton, Henry S. Patterson, Graham Rohrer, Chester R. Stroup and Mrs. Robert Strunsky.

The organizing parents are Mrs. J. B. Greene and Mrs. J. H. Platten, Jr. At a recent parents meeting, 33 choir families attended and pledged financial support to the campaign.

Most of the students are earnest workers, and in one class, a pupil said to her teacher, "Don't ask us whether this is too much homework—say to us, 'This is it, and you must do it.'"

One young Italian girl, who came to Princeton two years ago as a bride was enrolled in an English class by her husband. She had had teacher training in Italy, and she learned English quickly, studying with a tutor as well as in the "Y" class.

After a little English study, she decided she would like to teach Italian, and she found a group of 10 women who retained her to continue with them the Italian studies they had begun in the Princeton Adult School.

One teacher, Mrs. Albert Rose, has become so absorbed in the teaching of English that she audits a class in linguistics at the University.

"Knowing the structure of language is really the only way to meet the problem of all these different languages in one class," Mrs. Rose believes.

The YWCA has conducted English language classes for more than 10 years, and has helped many students to obtain their citizenship papers. Classes are held once a week for an hour and a half, four classes Thursday evenings, three on Thursday afternoons and one on Monday evenings.

In addition to the teachers referred to above, the "faculty" consists of Miss Katherine Lyons, Mrs. Leland Clark and Mrs. William Brown.

ROUND-UP

President Dodds made front-page news for The New York Times Tuesday with publication of his three-year study of the college presidency . . . In essence, it urges colleges to shun "prominent names" in selection of their presidents and warns against the appointments of "eminent pubic figures" who want to try their hand at the job without having the qualifications or the lasting commitment.

The examples that come to mind fastest are Eisenhower of Columbia and Stassen of Pennsylvania . . . the latter left a muddled heritage which Penn is still attempting to unravel.

Four Princeton area residents have been named to the May term of the Mercer County Grand Jury, with Raymond J. Arrowsmith, 21 Manning Lane, Lawrenceville, as foreman . . . others are Arthur Miller, 129 Washington Road, Jacob M. Hammer, 22 Rydal Drive, Lawrence Township; and Irving M. Seidman, 22 Lamar Road, Lawrence Township.

James Aikens, 19-year old University freshman, was assaulted by three men Sunday morning, shortly after midnight, at the corner of College Road and University Place . . . kicked and punched, and his eyeglasses broken, he was treated at the Infirmary for lacerations and a possible fractured nose.

Two dog bites: John Dunean, 13, 81 Leigh Avenue, bitten on the heel while walking on John Street by a dog owned by John Luce, 126 John Street . . . Miss Juliana Brown, 65, 4 Berrien Court, bitten on the leg by a dog owned by Mrs. Alice Wilson, 29 Green Street.

Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan warns against purchase of motor-driven go-carts, which are illegal not only on the street but in public or private parking areas . . . frequently used for races, they must meet stringent safety regulations imposed by the state . . . those operating them contrary to law are subject to fines ranging from $200 to $2000 and a year in jail.

The temperature ranged into the 80's on five consecutive days last week, reaching a high of 88 on Friday . . . three days later, Monday's maximum was a chill 48.

Despite the prolonged drought—no measurable rainfall for much of the month's last fortnight — April bowed out with a surplus, thanks to its unusually wet (and cold) beginning . . . total for the month was 5.49 inches, almost two inches of that being recorded on April Fool's Day . . . the thermometer had a busy time of it, going from a low of 18 on April 4 to 88 on Easter Sunday and against last Friday.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kemmler

We heard of a British army (homemade) golf course laid out on the Persian Gulf, where an RAF sergeant made the holes with 12-inch square boxes (the only material he had at hand), and he says, just about everybody sinks a putt in one. Whether that started the idea or not we don't know, but now many European players say the standard 4¼ inch cup slows up the game and adds nothing to it. They're experimented with 8½ inch cups with these results: Average players sink twice as many putts from 6 feet or less, and from 45 feet the number who hole out in one putt triples. They said their games are more enjoyable, faster, and fun-smothering tension is eliminated. Well, there are all shades of opinions about everything, and golf is no exception . . . and, all we do, mam, is report the facts as we gets 'em. But whoo it comes to serving for your complete satisfaction, that's our principal aim in life, and that's a fact! May we serve you, please? PLANNERS BACK BY-PASS

Unified Action Urged. The Borough Planning Board went on record in favor of the State Highway Department's proposed Route 206 by-pass, Route 92, at its meeting Tuesday. It also gave Mayor Henry S. Patterson top priority on the services of consultant Francis D. McHugh in preparing the Borough's presentation at the by-pass hearing scheduled for May 24 in Dayton.

The Planning Board took under advisement the plans of Robert V. Dilley of 80 Stockton Street for the construction of two three-story office-and-apartment buildings on his property at 245-47 Nassau Street, next to the Sinclair Station.

"We Need Ideas." "Princeton has a tremendous stake in this by-pass," Mayor Patterson said to the Board in requesting Mr. McHugh's assistance. "We need ideas, and I suggest a strategy meeting before the hearing. It would be good if the Planning Board's consultant could get together with Borough officials, the University and the other municipalities so that we could work out together the best approach for presentation at the State Highway hearing."

In granting the mayor's request, the Board suggested that the presentation include a strong suggestion that "we have Route 206-A (Route 92) on the books as soon as possible." It endorsed the mayor's plan to include pictures of traffic problems in the Borough's presentation.

Scuttlebut Aired. "I've heard a lot of hearsay about the by-pass," Mayor Patterson said. "One or more municipalities, such as South Brunswick, feel the route is not far enough east, that the artery will create traffic and develop land. The theory is that it will go farther east, but only south of Route 1."

"South Brunswick," he continued, "is now calling the by-pass something designed for Princeton and not for them. Our problem is that it might get so far east that the trucks won't like it. The by-pass touches Montgomery Township, Franklin Township, South Brunswick and Plainsboro. One of our best helps will be Somerset County — it very much wants it."

"We've all got to get together on this," he said. "The one thing they'd like to find is that there is confusion in the Princeton mind."

Nassau Street Lot Studied. The Planning Board, faced by a complexity of problems concerning Mr. Dilley's proposal to develop his property, stated it would discuss the plans again at the June meeting.

The plans, as explained by Mr Dilley and his attorney, A. C. Reeves Hicks, involve tearing down the small building now used as dental offices and constructing a three-story, modern building, housing approximately 24 offices, plus six two-bedroom apartments on the third floor.

Skillman Building to Go. At a later date, the owner envisions tearing down the old Skillman Building and constructing a similar but larger three-story unit, which would contain a retail shop at the Nassau Street end. Mr. Dilley told the Board that some apartments in Palmer Square are now being turned into offices and, in time, his second building would be needed.

The need for variances for side-yard requirements and parking, the questioned suitability of the location for apartments, problems of "open space" as defined by ordinance, and of the right-of-way behind the lot, the unknown factor of County plans for its Child Guidance Center property next door, and the design of the buildings themselves caused Chairman S. W. Dodge to ask, "Would you submit your plans to Operation Nassau for review?" Mr. Dilley told the Board that the plans were flexible. "We'd welcome suggestions."

Borough Engineer Arthur T. Brokaw informed the Board that Princeton is now in the State planning program, and 50 percent of the planner's fees will be paid by the State.

Westminster Choir College is scheduled to present its development plans at the June meeting.

CHAMBER URGES ACTION On School Merger. At the request of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, State Assemblyman Charles E. Farrington has agreed to introduce in the legislature an amendment to the state school consolidation statute which would permit Borough and Township to finance a consolidated school district on a per pupil basis.

Such an amendment, if passed, would merely allow the municipalities to proceed and would not oblige them to do so.

Action by the Chamber was announced this week following presentation of a school regionalization proposal by three Borough residents to the school boards of both municipalities. Robert Palmer, Tristam B. Johnson and Harvey Rothberg made the proposal.

"We don't care what it's called — 'regionalization' or 'consolidation'," said Mr. Palmer, "the end is the same: to modify the law so that we get a system for distributing tax costs on a per-pupil basis."

There is a state "regionalization" statute and a state "consolidation" statute, and either one would have to be modified to permit the per-pupil financing advocated by both the Chamber of Commerce and the three Borough residents.

Dr. Frederick Raubinger, State Commissioner of Education, has said that he prefers modifying the consolidation statute because altering the regionalization law would mean using regionalization for something it wasn't designed for. However, the question of which law to modify is regarded as a technicality.

"We — and the Chamber — hope that a citizens study committee will be appointed now to report in the fall on the best way to achieve a merger of Borough and Township school districts," Mr. Johnson said.

The Chamber, in a letter to both school boards, urges the creation of such a committee, asking that it report to a forum which the Chamber will sponsor early in September. Edwin L. Martin, president of Trenton State College will serve as chairman of the forum.

If the Borough and Township school districts merged and were financed on a per-pupil basis, the new merged district could still accept whatever sending districts it had room for, Mr. Palmer said.

In other action this week the Chamber wrote to Borough and Township officials expressing the unanimous wish of the Chamber's Board of Directors that both municipalities start a joint consolidation study. The letter refers to political rather than school consolidation.

The Chamber also asked Borough Council to change all half-hour meters to one hour and increase the charge per hour from five to ten cents, with strict enforcement of "no meter feeding."

Through its Board of Directors, the Chamber also asked for a study of land use in the central business district with emphasis on parking.

ROTARY REPORTS

On Yearly Accomplishments. The district director of Rotary International has commended the Princeton Rotary Club for its achievement in reaching 300 percent in the Rotary Foundation (a scholarship fund), in strengthening its attendance record and supporting district activities.

In the annual report of the Princeton group, its president, Roy S. Vogt also cited the career guidance program given at Princeton High School under the direction of Cory S. Kammler; the work of the membership committee under John C. Yeoman; publication of a Rotary Fact Book directed by J. P. Meyer; revision of the by-laws by Jerald S. Hanks, Paul R. Chesebro and Ralph S. Mason; and the program of regular visits to club meetings by foreign students. The latter program has been guided by Bernard Barenholtz.

Norman J. Sollenberger will be next year's president taking office this summer. Other officers will be Mr. Hanks, first vice-president; Mr. Yeoman, second vice-president; Dilman M. K. Smith, secretary and George W. Loos, treasurer. Directors are Samuel M. Kind, Walter C. Johnson and J. P. Meyer.

SALE NETS $3300

In Rummage. "We wish to thank all the friends who contributed and made possible a record net amount of $3300 for Princeton Hospital from our rummage sale," said Mrs. Elmer Chase, chairman of the Hospital Aid Committee sale.

"We also wish to thank Hook and Ladder and Chemical Company No. 1 for use of their firehouse on Harrison," Mrs. Chase continued, "and we extend a sincere apology to the friends who didn't understand that receiving goods after the stated times could work a hardship."

Mrs. Chase also cited Princeton merchants who gave new goods and services: Nassau Interiors, The Town Shop, Clayton's, Bellows, The Thorne Pharmacy, Marsh & Co., Bailey's, Elise Goupil, The Cummins Shop, Center Stationers, Edith's, The Princeton Gourmet, Home Decor, The Clothes Line, Farr Hardware, The Prep Shop, The Princeton Gift Shop, Stone's Linen Shop, The Silver Shop, Cousins, Fulmer & Bowers and the Princeton Hauling and Floor Waxing Company.

HIP BROKEN

In Car Accident. Miss Lida Priest, 87, of 34 Littlebrook Road, is recovering in Princeton Hospital from a fractured hip sustained when she was knocked down by a car Friday at 11 a.m.

According to Township police, Mrs. Rene Braden, 62, of the Littlebrook address, was backing up her car in the circular driveway of her home. She did not see Miss Priest, who is her aunt, and she knocked her to the ground with the rear bumper of the car.

Three members of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, and Lt. Richard Steiner and Patrolman Antonio Diaforli, Jr. of the Township police force administered first aid, and the squad's ambulance took Miss Priest to the hospital.

THREE FINED

In Traffic Court. Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr., imposed three fines and deferred another in traffic court Monday.

Marcial M. Fuentes, 35, Princeton Nurseries, Kingston, was fined $25 and had his license revoked 60 days for careless driving. He pleaded not guilty. In other cases, George F. Sutton, Jr., 18, Kendall Park, was fined $10 for driving without lights, and McCarter Theatre, College Road, paid $15, through its manager, Milton Lyon, for operating a car with only one license plate.

George C. Krugoroy, 38, 236 Nassau Street, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving. However, Magistrate Tams deferred sentence until Monday, pending an investigation to see if Mr. Krugoroy had been charged previously with the same offense.

In criminal court, Robert Moore, 26, Alexander Road and U. S. 1, pleaded not guilty to a charge of soliciting. He was fined $100 and $10 court costs and placed on probation for one year.

Moore was the complaintant against three University students whom he claimed assaulted him near the Pennsylvania Railroad station where

YOU BE THE JUDGE: "Trial By Jury," the Gilbert and Sullivan spoof at British law, will be given as half of a double bill ("The Sorcerers" will round out the latter half) this weekend in McCarter by the Savoyards of Princeton. Here David Cain as the Judge exhibits an alarming lack of judicial objectivity toward the plaintiff, Viola Ponisi. (Ulli Steltzer Photo)

News Of The THEATRES

SPRING MEANS G. & S.

Double Bill This Year. When the Princeton Savoyards make their annual appearance in McCarter Theatre this weekend, they will bring with them the songs, props and costumes of "Trial By Jury" and "The Sorcerer," by Gilbert and Sullivan.

Both offerings will be presented at 8:30 this Thursday, Friday and Saturday and at 3 Saturday under the direction of A. Munroe Wade and the musical direction of Vernon Boushell.

Mr. Boushell, responsible for last year's successful "Mikado," has made some changes in the original Sir Arthur Sullivan score, but the Savoyards are not revealing what they are until the downbeat on opening night.

Edward Earle, chief dance director for the Lambertville Music Circus, is serving as choreographer for the Savoyards for the first time this year, and Claude Engle of the Century Lighting Company is returning to handle the technical side of the production.

In the "Trial By Jury" cast, audiences will see David Cain as the Judge; Viola Ponisi as Angelina the Plaintiff; Lawrence Gupton as Edwin the Defendant and Franklyn Carr as the Usher.

For "The Sorcerer," Mr. Carr will return as J. Wellington Wells, Warren Dodson will be Alexis; Debbie Truxal will be Aline; F. M. Ferguson will portray Dr. Daly; Mrs. Charolette Boyd, Mrs. Partlet and Janet Thorsen, Constance, her daughter.

Other members of cast and chorus are Charles Bradford, Peter Wright, David Wetherill, William Hayes, Peter Heydan, Robert Borda, John Bunham, Gary Walters, James Williamson, Henry Hill, Michael Procacino.

Sally Blair, Chris Davies, Susan Kilbon, Mariagrade Vivlano, Joan Wilhilm, Barbara Jo Syer, Frances Mack, Margaret Canvley, Judy Curfman, Carol Fricial, Katheryn Foote Barbara Huben, Mary Kelsey, Edith Leveneng and Cathy Smith.

It will take a one-week sabbatical and then return on May 11 and 12 to its harbor in McCarter Theatre, so mark down the dates because the old thirties musical is worth the evening, as presented by a cast of amateurs and semi-professionals assembled under the patient and imaginative guidance of Milton Lyon.

If the production does not quite go off like the sky-rocketing "Guys and Dolls" of last year, it is the fault of the book and the fault of time.

The thirties are not yet so nostalgic as the twenties have become, and so "Anything Goes" is less a genuine period piece than a dated relic, with women wearing clothes that are not so much old-fashioned as just out of date, and actors telling a story that isn't quite trite enough to satirize (remember "Boy Friend"?) but by no means fresh enough to be carried on its own.

Cole Porter lives on, however, and even the topical references in "You're the Top" can't keep that song from being the top and "I Get A Kick Out of You" is still a breezy, wunderful, extroverted love song

The actors and singers chosen by Mr Lyon are, in many cases, the same ones who carried "Guys and Dolls." They act out, in this musical, the shipboard story of a girl (Ruth Bent) who is going to marry a titled Englishmen (Stuart Duncan) to rav. the family business, although she really loves a brash young man (Greg Farrell) with whom she once spent nine hours in a taxi.

There is a gangster (Bert Wunderlich) wistfully trying to raise his status from public enemy number 13 to public enemy—well, any lower number would be better than 13—and his moll (Nell Duncan) and some first-rate lesser passengers like the heroine's mother (Pat Stuthahn); a nurse (Marion Opdyke of "The Bait"); her doctor, (Ashby Adams); and a splendidly fiendish little boy played by Steven Kraft.

Of these, Greg Farrell is the most impressive, making up for his modest voice with a genuinely professional stage presence and carrying out his bits of comic business and his romantic scenes with equal savoir faire.

Anne Sheldon, as Reno Sweeney, the revivalist turned night-club singer, is smart enough not to imitate Ethel Merman but to bring her own interpretation to the part. Given those wonderfully ramish lines, some of Porter's finest songs, (her "Blow, Gabriel" and "Kick Out of You" are most successful), and the production's best costumes, she creates a memorable "Reno."

Pleasing Voice. Ruth Bent, with the most professionally trained voice in the east, sings very well, as one would expect, but finds herself handicapped by a rather colorless part. Stuart Duncan is unfortunately in this category, too, forced to play the kind of stage Englishman that nobody writes about any more, but nevertheless making the most of what good lines he does have.

Nell Duncan, as Bonnie, the moll, is really too ladylike for the part, but when she informs the passengers that her heart belongs to daddy, she turns out to be as low-down as any Mary Martin fan could wish.

Speaking of passengers reminds us that "Anything Goes" is a shipboard story. Hugh Hardy has taken that redoubtable Elizabethan stage, the one that has seen Hamlet's death, Lear's madness and the Alchemist's obscenities, and has converted it with portholes, double bunks, strong enough to be lain on, a ship's bar and even a brig. Marvelous.

The costumes are equally impressive, granted their meticulously thirties look. Shirley Rennie has designed them with a true eye for color, blending shades of coral for one scene, red-white-and-blue for another and gayer occasion, and tints of rust for still another. Her gowns for Anne Sheldon are shiny, slinky and seductive, and are worn by the actress to perfection.

Mr. Lyon's direction, so skillful that it hardly shows, does reveal itself in one imaginative flash, when he sends his chorus down into the theatre for some spectacular lighting effects in "Blow, Gabriel." Go see for yourself.

SEAMY AND STEAMY

Intime Offers John Osborne. Theatre Intime has done well with John Osborne's period piece, "Look Back In Anger," despite the fact that the dreary, wordy play never moves far from the ironing board. ("There aren't any good, brave causes left.")

Under the direction of Calia Hill, Jeffrey Moss and the rest of the cast turn in performances which match anything seen at the McCarter this season.

The no-action play about a misfit drew a lacing from the audience.

"Why doesn't the wife throw her iron at the poor slob and end the whole thing?" an impatient young blonde said during intermission.

Sailing Films Coming

In the summer of 1960 seven square-rigged ships from Denmark, Belgium, Norway and the United States turned back the pages of maritime history in a race between Norway and Belgium. John Biddle, Philadelphia yachtsman who filmed the rare event from perches 150 feet above decks, will bring his nostalgic documentary of the twilight of the giant windjammers to the McCarter Theatre next Thursday evening, May 10.

Also featured will be the annual Out Island Regatta of the Bahamas, showing the ragged Bahamian boats and the uninhibited antics of the native crews.

Mr. Biddle will narrate the films, which are accompanied by original music arrangements. The program begins at 8:30 and will last about 90 minutes. Tickets at $1.75 are available at the University Store and McCarter.

GOTTA LIGHT?

Viking Has. Akari lights are papery, Japanese fantasies designed, surely, to hold the moon, but quite content to compromise on a candle or a light.

These are globes on a trident, or a long series of pendulous shapes blended together and spun down from the ceiling to make a shapely column of light. Viking Furniture on Route 33, usually thought of as a Scandinavian consulate, also has Japanese things, and the Akari lights are some of them.

In addition, Viking has a sturdy and practical little magnetic lamp that you can stick hurriedly to a metal surface like a radiator, or under a cabinet. You can even attach it permanently by its screws, but its chief value is its magnetic base. Costs $12, measures three inches in diameter by 5½ inches long, takes a 30-watt reflector spotlight, comes in black, white and colors.

The next light we found is a painted glass sphere, totally plain and colored bright lemon yellow or white, with an oak stave to hold it down from the ceiling.

Viking is especially pleased with a high-back sofa and matching chair which look exactly like stripped-down Colonial wing pieces. Lines are flat and thin as a northern moon. Backs are high enough for a tired head on both sofa and chair, "wings" are flaring, rounded appendages that give line and grace to the severe thinness of the pieces.

Upholstery is a finely woven wool in almost any color, tautly stretched over the curving, molded furniture shell. There is a teak frame and a loose seat cushion on both.

For $49.95, Viking will turn over to you a nest of three square teak tables, the largest 22 by 20 inches, with legs that carry right through the corners to come out flush with the top. Most useful accessories you'll ever own.

Teak sculptures from Denmark are tall, curving and thin, depicting dancers, a couple embracing or a single figure, all undulant, smooth and highly stylized, as pleasing to touch, as to eye. They range from $13 to $48.

Dansk is new at Viking, and the shop particularly likes to display the favorite dark brown flamewood and a candle-tree with six holders, three to a side, each on a different level of light.

Lots of fascinating accessories in this shop, in case you hadn't discovered them. Summertime will bring out coasters, dinner napkins and guest towels in Matisse colors like purple and pink, gold, bright blue and yellow, all geometrically arranged on white.

PRIVATE EYE

Electric Style. The camera without an electric eye is blind as a bat these days and for movie fans, Mall Camera has the Bell and Howell with the best 20-20 vision of them all. This electric eye has built-in intuition for backlighting which means that you can shoot right into the sun and not overexpose the face of your subject. Mall says $49.95, although list is $99.95.

If you like to mix and match, there is a projector for $69.95 that goe forward, backward, stands still and has adjustable speeds i.. its 500-watt chassis.

Argus' movie projector, 400-foot capacity, has an all-metal body and case, and costs $54.95. Slide projectors at Mall include Airequipt, Argus, and the Kodak 500 which is $49.95.

On the single lens side, Mall's reflex cameras reflect the products of Konica, Minolta, Miranda, Agfa and Konflex, with a special f-2.8 camera, with case, at $89.95 instead of the $115 list.

The Agfaflex has a built-in

Good Delaware Clay

A splendidly formed Japanese lantern, two feet high, adorns the front window at Viking Furniture, Route 33. It stands on a trident base, has a traditional mushroom top and looks exactly like any Japanese garden lantern except for its unusual height.

They tell us at Viking that the lantern was made in Trenton from clay scooped right out of the Delaware.

Apparently the people at the Lenape pottery found that Delaware clay made better Japanese lanterns than any other clay—and so close, too! At present, the hard-baked lantern, with a ringing "ping" like metal, is designed only for a candle to light your way down the garden path. You may, however, electrify it if you wish. $30. You buy the candle and the bulb.

News Of The Theatres

"The acting's good," commented a senior, "but the writing is lousy. I don't know why Intime dragged out this dated thing. I know some guys on campus who can write better than this."

As Jimmy, the bitter young man who has nothing to do on Sunday afternoons but pace his sleasy, one-room flat in England's industrial Midland and rant against the upper classes, personified by his in-laws, Jeffrey Moss, develops well the essential viciousness of the role. Ambitious, tortured by his own failures, stoned by his mother-in-law who blocks his hope of easy access to the upper classes, he torments everyone who comes near, particularly his wife.

As the girls bel ind the ironing board in John Davis' depressing setting, Venetia Reed and Kate Lever are as believable as their flat roles will allow. Daniel Deitch is a real find as Cliff, Jimmy's unintellectual sparring partner. And William Ballenger plays with excellent restraint the role of Col. Redfern, Miss Reed's father who is rooted in the Edwardian Era.

Director and cast give the play better tre.tment than it deserves. It continues this Wednesday through Saturday at Murray Theatre.

ALL AGES TO PERFORM In Ballet Society Program. Th talents of adults and children alike are being put to work for the Society's coming dual program, "The Nutcracker" and "Corral," to be given at the McCarter May 19 and 20.

Committee members for the production include Mrs. Frank Taplin and Mrs. Ferdinand Schoettle, programs; Mrs. Albert Cornish and Mrs. F. C. Cunningham, costumes; Mrs. Herbert Bailey, Jr. and Mrs. Percy Wood, Jr., tickets; Mrs. Peter Lauck, 3rd, publicity; Mrs. Moore Gates, Jr., patrons and patronesses; Mrs. William A Dobson, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Woodbridge, 3rd, make-up; Mrs. Helma Bush, properties; Mrs. John H. Meyer, stage manager, Mrs. Benjamin Maugham and Mrs. Joseph R. Wood, back stage; and Mrs. Frank Vomacka, ushers.

A rodeo and square dance are a part of the fast-moving choreography of "Corral," a story of tomboyish cowgirl, danced by Carol Estey, "city girls" and cowboys. Sue Mesner will dance the role of the Sugar Plum Fairy in "Nutcracker," a fairy story loved by all ages.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Cape Fear (May 2-8) is a nail-biting tale of terror. Directed by J. Lee Thompson, of "Guns of Navaronne" fame, and based on the novel "The Executioners" by John D. MacDonald, the film has an overlay of menace and ruthless revenge that should attract all lovers of horror stories.

The story is brutally simple: an ex-convict seeks revenge against the witness whose testimony jailed him. Gregory Peck is the witness, Polly Bergen plays his wife and young Lori Martin (of the TV show "National Velvet") is their daughter. Robert Mitchum, as the ex-convict, sets out with calculated malice of the most vicious and ruthless sort, to stalk his prey: Peck, his wife, and especially the young daughter.

Peck seeks the aid of the police, but there is nothing that can be done to stop Mitchum, who commits no overt act, yet keeps on his intended victims an unrelenting pressure. Finally, Peck develops a scheme which involves hiding his wife and daughter away on a small houseboat and adjoining cabin on the lake front at lonely Cape Fear. From there on, it is pure terror every step of the way.

The entire cast does an excellent job. The performance of Mtchum is especially noteworthy. He is like a wary, predatory animal on the prowl after his prey. Comment: a real chiller.

THE GARDEN

The Pure Hell of St. Trinian's (May 2-5) spoofs the girls to a fare-the-well, and tops its predecessors "The Girls of St. Trinian's" and "Blue Murder at St. Trinian's."

The girls of the St. Trinian's boarding school have burned down their school, the story begins, and they somehow (only in the movies) are sent on a cultural tour of the Greek Islands, accompanied by professor Cecil Parker and policewoman Joyce Grenfell. Then along comes George Cole whose mission is to get the girls into a harem somewhere.

The cast is talented, and the comedy finely wrought. Comment: escapist entertainment.

From a Roman Balcony (May 6-8) is the story of the gap between a dream and reality, set in the seamier side of Rome. Jean Sorel is a youthful father who dreams of owning a market stall so that he may marry Valerie Ciangottini, the young mother of his illegitimate son. The realities involve him with a shady lawyer and a crooked olive oil company and a valuable ring he has glimpsed on the hand of an unguarded corpse lying in state in an apartment across the hall. The acting is good: the film is based on the spicy "Roman Tales" and "New Roman Tales" by Alberto Moravia. Comment: goings-on beh.nd the balcony.

May Day Play Ready

An original play, "A Pause in the Progress," written by the eighth grade of Miss Fine's School will be presented at 7:30 Thursday and at 11:30 Friday morning in the auditorium. The play, about a May Day festivity honoring "Good Queen Bess," is directed by A. Munroe Wade, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Davidson and Mrs. Anne B. Shepherd.

The cast includes: Peggy Reber, Polly Dickey, Lynn Marzoni, Gail Hood, Marianne Homen, Sally Behr, Barbara Yard, Sarah Jaeger, Leslie Loser, Hannah Blakeman, Ann Hughey, Dorothy Humphrey, Leslie Cameron, Hope Rose, Kirsty Pollard, Gailey Bissell, Nancy Dailey, Dale Marzoni, Barbara Sullivan and Mary Bilderback.

Sally Lane is stage manager and the production committee includes Gail Hood and Ann Hughey, set design; Sally Strasenburgh and Linda Stanjar, scenery; Gailey Bissell, costumes; Sally Behr, properties; Carol Bonner, lighting; Kathy Blake and Barbara Yard, garlands; Leslie Cameron, programs; Leslie Cameron and Sally Lane, tickets.

the incident took place. They are: Ernest Frohboese, 1915 Hall; Ronald Rogers, Patton Hall; and E. J. Herman, Lockhart Hall, all 21. All pleaded not guilty to the charge which was dismissed against Rogers and Herman for lack of evidence. Frohboese was fined $35.

BIGELOW TO SPEAK

At Non-Violence Workshop. Albert Bigelow, artist, lecturer and author of "The Voyage of the Golden Rule," will be among the speakers scheduled for the all-day workshop on nonviolence to be held Saturday, May 12, at the First Presbyterian Church under the sponsorship of the Princeton Fellowship of Reconciliation.

Other speakers will be James Farmer, national director of the Congress for Racial Equality (CORE); Bradford Lyttle, national secretary of the Committee for Nonviolent Action; William S. Nelson, professor of Christian Theology at Howard University; James Peck, author of "Freedom Ride," and Glenn Smiley, associate secretary of the National Fellowship of Reconciliation.

D. Campbell Wyckoff is chairman of the Princeton unit; Carroll C. Pratt, vice-chairman; John Ernest, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Carroll C. Pratt, membership chairman.

Workshop planning committee members are Mr. Ernest, chairman; Kees Bol, registrar; Mrs. Edward Nelson, arrangements; Gerald W. Gillette, literature, Mrs. Pratt and Mr. Wyckoff, publicity.

Also, Mrs. Arthur Adlerstein, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Blattenberger, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. O. Borgerhoff, Miss Hope Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gottlieb, Mrs. Carl G. Hempel, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Johnston and Miss Esther Todd. Also, Albert Hartman and James Malloy, both of Trenton.

Further information about the workshop may be obtained from Kees Bol, Cherry Hill Road, R.D. 2.

BROILED MG: This sports car was the victim last week of a field-fire which spread to the small garage in which it was kept on the property of James Shriver, 3d, 635 Snowden Lane. A member of the fire department, which answered the alarm, commented that "the fields are so dry that the sun striking a piece of glass could have started the fire."

SUICIDE REPORTED

Woman Hangs Self. Mrs. Cora C. Wentworth, 79, of 42 Linden Lane, was a suicide by hanging last Wednesday, Deputy County Physician J. Leonard Berry reported to Borough police.

Mrs. Wentworth, who lived with her son, Peter, at the Linden Lane address, was found in the basement shortly after noon. Police said she had been in a depressed frame of mind.

LICENSE REVOKED

For Drinking In Taxi. The taxi driver's license of Royal Craig, 184 Witherspoon Street, has been revoked by Dr. Elwood P. Godfrey, Borough taxi commissioner.

Dr. Godfrey, a member of Borough Council, charged the defendant with drinking while sitting in his taxi and with allowing an unlicensed taxi driver to operate the vehicle. Police said the cab is owned by Robert O'Neill.

YMCA ELECTS DIRECTORS

At Annual Dinner. Eleven directors were elected to serve the YMCA at the annual dinner of the organization held last Thursday at Westminster Choir College.

Chosen for a three-year term were Dr. Lee H. Bristol, Joseph Dougherty, Jack Houghton, John McLoughlan, Burton Weisbecker, B. Franklin Bunn, George Good, Edward McCall and Paul Mitnaul. The Rev. Charles Marker and the Rev. Edward Morgan will serve one-year terms.

Retiring directors were presented with awards for service. They are Wiley Critz, J. Burrell Harrison, J. P. Meyer, Kermit Rolland, Dr. Wilbur H. York, the Rev. Donald M. Meisel, J. K. Delano, John H. Gripper, Francis X. Nulty, Delos C. Schoch and the Rev. Richard H. Luecke.

Dr. Bristol, president of Westminster Choir College, was the speaker of the evening. Mr. Bunn reported for the nominating committee. Dr. Elmer W. Engstrom presented the trustees' report, and Elric G. Endersby, president of the YMCA, presided. Kai Soderman entertained the group with folk-songs and guitar. Dr. Bayard Dodge gave the invocation and the benediction.

Dear TRAVELEX,

The 1962 season is going so well it might be a good idea to remind folks that steamship passage is currently being booked for 1963 and even some requests are in for 1964.

It may sound fabulous to project that far ahead—but, let's face it, the experienced traveler who enjoys prime space for the best rate does plan ahead.

This may seem like the wrong season to think about winter vacations—but here to pipelines of transportation and the choice space in resorts will be booked solid before too long.

It is far better to have reservations confirmed than to go through the highly unsatisfactory riemarole of trying to find a poor second choice at the last minute.

Although it's practically a dirty word in our business, cancellations can be made if something does come up.

Cordially,

Nancy

PAST PRESIDENT OF PRINCETON PUBLISHES BOOK

A call for the college or university president to assert his educational leadership is made in a book by Harold W. Dodds, former president of Princeton, published by the McGraw-Hill Book Co. May 1.

In the book Dodds contends that the position of the university as a force in education continues to decline. He finds that the president of a university is in danger of being engulfed in a network of such activities as business management, public relations and fund raising.

Dodds believes that a president can escape this network by finding strong subordinates to whom these activities can be delegated.

IMPORTANT READING — Harold W. Dodds' significant new book provides information, insight and understanding that are of vital importance to everyone interested in higher education.

aged 6 and 7 will attend the day camp or Hun School grounds, Edgerstoune Road, and boys aged 9 to 13 will meet at an additional camp a short distance out of town.

Day camp opens June 25 and the program will include instructional swimming, games, sports, campsite development and other activities under the supervision of YMCA trained leaders. The hours will be from 8:45 until 4. Further information is available at the YMCA office.

EDUCATION MEANS JOBS

"Business Education Week." An illustrated talk on job opportunities through business education will be given by Theodore Curtis, personnel director of McGraw-Hill before students in the business education department at Princeton High School.

Mr. Curtis will open "Business Education Week" next Monday. On Tuesday, there will be a panel discussion on requirements for secretarial workers and another on clerical employees. Charles Hurford of RCA; Mrs. Louise Hand, American Cyanamid and Miss Marjorie Mason of the University will conduct the first, and Miss Judy Waters, Electro-Mechanical Research; Mrs. Adrienne Wahlke, ETS, and John Lasley of Opinion Research will lead the second.

The programs will conclude Thursday with consideration of bookkeeping, public accounting and data processing, conducted by Cornelius Arnett, Princeton Bank and Trust; James Pentrinferno, accountant and Joseph Patrick, ETS.

PADDLE YOUR OWN?

No, Rent One. "Canoes for Rent" will be the sign on a new agency established by undergraduates on the north side of the Lake Carnegie bridge on Washington Road.

Canoes will be available from 3 p.m. to midnight this Friday, from 10 a.m. to midnight Saturday and from 1-6 p.m. Sunday. If there is enough demand, the agency may offer canoes on subsequent spring weekends.

Reservations for canoes should be made by calling WA 4-5269 between 11 p.m. and midnight or WA 4-0457 between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. Rates are $1.25 per hour with reductions for all-day rentals.

PTA TO MEET

In Kingston. A Fellowship Supper for members of the Kingston School PTA will be held Tuesday at 6:30 in the auditorium of the school on Laurel Avenue.

Dr. Sampson A. Smith, superintendent of schools of Franklin Township, will be guest speaker. Mrs. C. J. Schwabe will install the new officers, Mrs. James R. Davey, president; Mrs. Harry D. Bates, vice-president, Mrs. Charles Hemming, secretary, and Mrs. Raymond Echevarria, treasurer.

SIGN THEM UP NOW

For Plainsboro Kindergarten. Registration for all children entering kindergarten this fall will be held in the Plainsboro Township School next Tuesday at 9 a.m.

Children must be 5 on or before October 15, 1962. Parents must present birth certificates, proof of immunization against smallpox, diptheria, whooping cough and written proof of a third Salk polio shot. Dr. Guy K. Dean, school medical inspector, will examine each applicant.

A child whose fifth birthday falls between October 15 and December 31 may be admitted if parents can show, through psychological authorities recognized by the Plainsboro Board of Education, that the child is sufficiently mature. Application should be made this spring to the school principal.

FUNDS SOUGHT

For Rehabilitation Farm. The Berkshire Farm for Boys, Canaan, N. Y., is launching its 33rd annual appeal for funds in Princeton under the sponsorship of Mrs. Bevis Longstreth.

The Farm, founded in 1886, gives juvenile offenders a fresh start, and has a success record of three out of four boys. The Farm also serves as a training center for graduate students who will make a career of social work.

Working with Mrs. Longstreth in Princeton are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Breuer, Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Erdman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Lindabury, Mr. and Mrs. David H. McAlpin, Mrs. Minot C. Morgan, Mrs. Fenn Stafford, Mrs. Norman B. Tooker, Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace, Jr., Mrs. Charles B. Worden and Mrs. W. H. York. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Longstreth, Box 285, 25 Palmer Square West.

COMING TO CAMELOT?

Sure! The medieval theme will extend even to buggy rides and tattoos when "A Country Fair At Camelot" opens next Saturday, May 12, at 11:30 on the grounds of Princeton Country Day School, Broadmead. The Fair will benefit the school's scholarship fund.

Tickets for rides, food and midway events will be sold from King Arthur's Round Table by a committee headed by James G. Scarff and assisted by William H. Sayen, IV, Fred H. Wandelt, Jr., Hiram L. Battle and Kevin Kennedy.

The traditional PCD buggy ride has been dubbed the "Medieval Buggy Ride" this year, and will be guided by Mrs. Warren P. Elmer, Jr. Other rides volunteers are Mrs. Ivan Bash, Mrs. Raymond A. Bowers and Mrs. James A. Love.

At the tattoo booth, visitors may choose from a selection of Medieval tattoos designed by

No Tolls

Cranbury, Pennington and Ewing telephone calls may now be made from Walnut numbers without toll charge. The Ewing exchanges involved are TU 2 and 3.

Approval by the Public Utility Commissioners of telephone company plans followed recent transferral of some intrastate operations to interstate operations, and the PUC and New Jersey Bell Telephone agreed that the amount resulting from the transfer be used to eliminate charges between exchanges with strong ties of community and business interest.

The change applies to a total of 109 exchanges throughout the state, serving more than a million customers.

ROAD-E-O PLANNED

At Princeton High. A Safe Driving Road-e-o will be staged by members of the Princeton High School Safe Driving Club Saturday morning in the north parking lot of the Princeton Shopping Center.

All Princeton High School students with driving licenses may enter if they pass a qualifying examination. Members of the student committee planning the affair are Gary Mount, Thomas Reynolds, Carol Randall, George Russo, Ann Cooper, Henry Schmidt, Henry Jones, Joan Duthie, Theodore Skaar, Lynne March, John Fenn, Griffin Dix, John Belcher and Jack Walstad. Thomas Murray is the faculty advisor.

CHAIRMEN CHOSEN

For New Cancer Group. "Prognosis—Hope," a film on cancer, will be shown at a meeting of the Princeton Branch of the American Cancer Society to be held at 8:15 next Thursday in the Conference Room of the First Presbyterian Church. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The Princeton Branch, formed in late March, has chosen Harold E. Zarker as its chairman. Other officers are Donald M. Meisel, vice chairman and Horace W. Moody, treasurer.

Dr. James B. Hastings will be chairman of professional information and Dr. Robert M. Webster, vice-chairman. Dr. Willard Machle will serve as chairman of the speakers department and Dr. Thomas H. Jukes will lead an education department.

Other chairmen are Mrs. John J. Collins, dressings; Mrs. John C. Williams, publicity and Edmund S. DeLong, Mrs. Hamilton Coltier, Mrs. Douglas E. Stuart and Mrs. Robert E. Navin to assist Mrs. Williams with publicity.

FEDERALISTS TO GATHER

For Dinner Meeting. Two speakers will address members of the Princeton chapter of the United World Federalists when the group meets for dinner at 7 next Thursday at the Princeton Inn.

Reservations for the affair may be made through Dr. Fred Tenney, 168 Hickory Court, WA 1-6838.

The speakers will be the Rev. Donald Harrington, min-

WELCOME MATS OUT

At Ten Princeton Houses. That delight of the connoisseur and the curious, "Open House Day," will be sponsored again by the Trenton-Princeton Mt. Holyoke Alumnae Club and the Radcliffe Club of Princeton on May 19 to raise funds for freshman scholarships.

Ten houses, ranging from the very old to the very new, are being readied for public view. Mrs. Loren B. Johnston of 101 Overbrook Drive is in charge of tickets, which will cost $2.50. After Tuesday, tickets will also be available at Bamberger's, Hinkson's and the Princeton University Store.

The Radcliffe freshman scholarship, open to girls going to school in Mercer County, has been won by Miss Sandra Burns, a member of the class of 1965, and by Miss Carol Goodman of Leesburg, a member of the class of 1964.

"YES, SHE'S HERE!" Sandra Burns mans the all-important telephone in Bertram Hall at Radcliffe College, Cambridge. Miss Burns, winner of a freshman scholarship, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Burns of 121 Mt. Lucas Road. (Story, this page).

Two scholarships to Mt. Holyoke, partially financed by the Open House project, were awarded last fall under the Early Admissions to Rochelle B. Wolinsky of Trenton and Carol Anne Geary of Fair Haven. The Mt. Holyoke scholarships are open to girls from Mercer, Middlesex, Hunterdon, Somerset and Monmouth Counties.

HISTORIANS TO MEET

For Tercentenary Talk. Members of the Historical Society of Princeton will meet Tuesday at 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Cook, Kingston.

David Davies, executive director of the New Jersey Tercentenary Commission, will describe the work of the Historic Sites Evaluation Committee and will tell about the new State Library and Museum-archives building.

MOSQUITO TIME COMING

Film To Be Shown. "The Story of the Mosquito," a color film whose title is self-explanatory, will be shown Tuesday at 8 in the Princeton Junction Firehouse before members of the West Windsor Democratic Club.

Freeholder Charles Kovacs, director of the Mercer County Mosquito Commission, will explain the work of his organization.

NEWCOMERS MEET

For Psychology, Coffee. Jack A. Vernon, associate professor of psychology at Princeton, will address the Newcomers Club next Wednesday at 12:30 at the "Y." Coffee will be served by the Town and Country group of the club.

Members of the Newcomers Gourmet group visited Cointreau, Ltd. in Pennington Monday and heard a talk by M. Jacques Cointreau on the origins of the firm.

OLYMPICS FOR BROWNIES

Throw Javelin, Discus. Over 200 Brownie Girl Scouts gathered at Marquand Park Saturday under the direction of Mrs. L.L. Vivian for a "Brownie Olympics," featuring javelin throw (mailing tubes) discus throw (paper plates), broad jump, shot put and relay races.

Brownie leaders who arranged the events are Mesdames Dwight Fickes, T. A. Mitchell, H. M. Schroder, Wayne Yoder, Creighton Burk, J. B. Smith, Ross Schradef, Charles Myers, Scott Blomeley, John Mount, George Warfield, S. Agadjanian and J. B. Thomas.

OLD CLASSICS NEVER DIE, nor shall they be allowed to fade away, is the opinion of Craig Stark and Mrs. Deborah Dempsey. They would reject a proposal by a college professor to substitute "lively" modern books in place of "fossilized classics" on high school reading lists. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: In the battle of Classics vs. Moderns, a college professor has argued that "Americans today are not interested in books because their association with literature when they were young was most often painful or meaningless." As a remedy, he suggested that "fossilized classics" such as "Ivanhoe," "Silas Marner" and "A Tale of Two Cities" be removed from high school reading lists and replaced by "lively" modern books such as "Hiroshima," "Beau Geste" and "The Ugly American." Do you agree?

Where asked. Bryn Mawr Book Sale.

John Hayes, 46 Marion Road W., theology student: No. I don't think they are fossilized. Perhaps what is fossilized is the teaching and presentation of the classics. Possibly sublimation with modern literary works would be of advantage, but not replacement.

Mrs. Florence Johnson, Rosedale Road, mutual funds salesman: I agree. It seems to me that the great failing today is that children don't learn to read properly. Their reading habits are very poor. Maybe if the books they read were more interesting, they would be more interested in learning.

John Peck, 31 Hawthorne Avenue, librarian for the Westminster Choir College: I wouldn't agree wholeheartedly. I think students would need some of both. There is much contemporary literature that is of value, but, at the same time, one should not neglect the classics because they have proven themselves through the years.

Mrs. Ethel Dean, Burd Street, Pennington, housewife: I think books like "Silas Marner and "Tale of Two Cities" are still good books for young people to read. Some of the modern books the professor lists I think are a little too mature. If the students don't read some of the classics in high school, they probably won't ever get to read them and will have missed a great deal, in my opinion. Maybe I fel the way I do because I was reared on these classics.

Robert Simpson, Carter Road, Seminary student: I agree with his thesis. Anything is worth a try to get them away from the TV set to a book. We would hope that they would then go back and read the classics.

Craig Stark, 415-A Devereux Avenue, graduate student, Department of Religion: I would very much disagree. Modern works for their own sake make no sense at all. A boo kshould be judged on its literary merit, not on its date of publication. The opinion that classics are fossilized reflects more upon the judger than the judged.

Mrs. Deborah Dempsey, 218-A King Street, editor's assistant: I'm strongly opposed. Any suggestion like this implies that young Americans, or all Americans, are not equipped to deal either with timeless themes or timeless writing. It's true that we all have bitter memories of badly presented fossilized classics, so called, but it seems clear to me that eventually you return to the classics as the only literature that is ultimately satisfactory.

George Masters, Canal Road, Griggstown, engineer: No. I don't agree. The reason is beauty in literature in general will not have changed very much. Perhaps our attitudes toward literature and life in general may have changed but the treatment of these attitudes is a subject for classes in sociology, not literature.

Robert Lee, 22 Bank Street, Princeton senior, English Department: I disagree violently. It depends on the outlook of the time. You can say modern books are lively now, but their value in the future in comparison with the classics may be extremely poor. Whereas the classics will presumably retain their values, the lively modern books may not.

Mrs. John W. Tukey, Arreton Road, housewife: No, I like the classics. I think there is a great deal of study of human character in them and I also think in the classics mentioned you get a nice mixture of the history and the atmosphere of a certain period in history. The contemporary things we're fairly familiar with.

Donald Grady, Graduate College, politics: My view is that it is an open and dangerous invitation to fadism. I feel any intelligent person understands that great literature must interpret its own era and its own value system. To disqualify any literary work on the grounds that its theme is of no interest to later eras is a patent misunderstanding of the value of human expression.

Gerald Baunach, 23 Poe Road, junior, Princeton High School: I think some of the classics are all right but the majority of them aren't very interesting. They're too old. I would prefer to read more modern books. Ivanhoe, for example, was a little too deep for me.

Kathy Mather, Dutch Neck, freshman, PHS: I agree with the professor very much. The other books are all right but when you read about modern civilization and what goes on about you right now, those books are more interesting on the whole. I did read "Hiroshima" and I liked it very much.

Richard Speedy, 24 Gulick Road, sophomore, PHS. I agree with the guy. I've read some of the old books and I've read some of the new ones and I tend to prefer the newer books I read. They are more interesting and not as fossilized, he says. The older ones are a little harder to get into and understand.

COME, BUY MY VIOLETS

Market Scheduled. Unusual perennials, annuals, some wild flowers and a varied collection of plants from the gardens and greenhouses of members will be offered to all interested buyers by Stony Brook Garden Club at its annual May Market.

The third annual event will be held Tuesday from 10 to 5 at the home of Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward, 15 Hodge Road. The rain date will be Wednesday.

Among the distinctive perennials to be offered are Aglegia hybrid blue (Columbine), Arabis double white, Astilbe in variety, Heuchera in variety (Coral Bells), Funkia Sieboldiana and Dicentra white (Bleeding Heart).

Members of the May Market Committee are Mesdames William H. Sayen, IV, chairman; Robert P. Wright, John I. Pearce, G. Alfred Cluett, Gordon G. Sikes, Peter Cook, Marshall M. Dana, Harold Erdman, Donald W Griffin, David B Miller and Henry Patton.

BREAKFAST AS CLIMAX

Of Farewell Dance. A Breakfast Party, complete with a combo, entertainment and a bountiful menu, will be given for Princeton High School seniors by the PTA following their Farewell Dance next Friday. Leading a band will be community organizations, business people and the PTA's of the sending districts.

Mrs. Thomas P. Cook, chairman of the Breakfast committee, will be assisted by Mrs Samuel Blizzard, president of the high school PTA; and the following committeewoman: Mrs. Elizabeth Boyd, entertainment; Mrs. Maurice W. Kelley, breakfast; Mrs. H. Kenyon Kilbon, finance; Mrs. L. M. Hymerling, publicity; Mrs. John Marek, soft drinks and sandwiches; Mrs. J. E. McHenry and Mrs. Frank W. Lawson, decorations; and Mrs. Frank Vomacka, secretary.

SMITH TEA PLANNED

For Friday. The Spring Tea and annual meeting of the Smith College Club will be held at 4 this Friday at the home of Mrs. James K. Delano, 729 Prospect Avenue Extension.

Mrs. C. Welles Fendrich, Jr. will report on the $3,479 raised at the auction this year for the scholarship fund. New officers will be elected and a report will be given by Mrs. Frederick G. Rasweiler.

Outgoing officers are Miss Elizabeth R. Moriarty, president; Mrs. Humboldt W. Leverenz, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond W. Mitchell, alumnae fund chairman; Mrs. Rene Leon, development fund chairman; Mrs. Fendrich, auction chairman, and Mrs. John Stover, raffle chairman.

Of the scholarship funds raised last year, the Club assigned $1,400 for a full tuition scholarship for Miss Joyce B. Washburn of Pennington and turned the remainder over to the college to establish a scholarship endowment fund in the name of the club.

ANTIQUES INTERIORS

Buying furniture is not an everyday occurrence. It is what might be termed a capital expense. It involves both planning and taste.

The designs of most types of furniture (other than modern) were done in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. English furniture, for example, reached its highest point under such masters as Chippendale, Sheraton and Hepplewhite.

Today, reproductions of the works of these cabinetmakers and their contemporaries are made. They are well built, their wood and materials are of the finest.

But, it is the genuine antique that increases in value year by year. It becomes an investment as well as an object of beauty. Generations of polishing and care give a lustre and quality which is difficult to duplicate.

We are showing:

Pembroke tables, end tables, game tables, tea tables, dining tables, breakfast tables, bedside tables, coach tables, tray tables, butler's tray tables, papier-mache tables, large bow chests, small bow chests, secretaire bookcases, kneehole desks, writing desks, Hepplewhite chairs, Sheraton chairs, grandfather clocks, eagle convex mirrors, Regency mirrors, knife boxes, tea caddies, standing twist lamps, desk twist lamps, fireplace fenders and tools, corner cupboards, stick barometers, banjo barometers, vase lamps, jardinieres, and other eighteenth century English and Scottish pieces.

Do come and see our collection. We think you'll be impressed both by the quality of the originals and by the reasonableness of their prices.

LEAGUE VOTES PROGRAM

For Coming Year. Members of the Princeton League of Women Voters voted in favor of area status at their annual meeting last Thursday, held in First Presbyterian Church. The new scope enabled the League to modify its program for the coming year to include evaluation of Borough regulations on housing and study of the Township tax base in relation to the future development of the community.

The group voted to continue its advocation of consolidation of Borough and Township, the creation of a joint Borough and Township recreation committee, construction of a Route 206 By-pass and support of existing Mercer County processes in the administration of juvenile law.

New officers chosen were: Mrs. Earl C. Tanner, president; Mrs. Ted Patlovitch, second vice-president, and Mrs. Norman Seltzer, secretary. New directors are Mrs. Richard Bergman, Mrs. Marvin Blumenthal, Mrs. Romeo Favreau, Mrs. James Fenton, Jr., Mrs Stanley Pilshaw, Mrs. Gino Treves, Mrs. H. P. Vermilya and Mrs. Stuart E. Wallace. Mrs. William Angoff, Mrs. Edwin Gatehell and Mrs. Stefan Ochs will serve as the nominating committee for next year.

Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. David Barge, vice-president, are delegates to the League's national convention in Minneapolis this week.

TEAS CONTINUE

For College Club. Two more teas have been announced by Mrs. John H. Meyer, chairman of Neighborhood Activities, in the annual spring series held by the Women's College Club.

Next Tuesday, Mrs. Alvin Mayze, 620 Lake Drive, will give a tea at her home from 3 until 5. Another tea will be held next Thursday from 3 until 5 at the home of Mrs. John T. Brinster, 271 Mercer Road. She will be assisted by Mrs. Frank Birch, Mrs. Bradley Smith, Mrs. Barnett Warner and Mrs. Donald Wilbur.

SUPPER BUFFS ALERTED

By Aid Society. The menu for the annual Spring Supper at Kingston Methodist Church on May 26 has been announced by the Aid Society.

Items include ham, potato salad, baked macaroni and cheese, deviled eggs, peas, cottage cheese and angel cake with lemon sauce. Supper will be served from 5 to 7.

"WOYZEK" SCHEDULED

By German Club. The film, "Woyzek", will be shown at next Wednesday's meeting of the Princeton German Club. The movie is a powerful psychological study based on an unfinished play by Georg Buechner.

The meeting will be held at 8:30 in Room 138 of the Frick Chemistry Building. Washington Road. Admission is 75 cents for non-members.

FRENCH BUFFET PLANNED

To people
OVER 65
and to their sons and daughters
Metropolitan has developed a new series of policies covering expense of hospitalization which will be issued at all ages 65 and over. These policies can mean a great deal to the peace of mind of senior citizens and their families in time of need brought about by age or sickness.
The premiums on these policies may be paid by the older people themselves—or by their children who may have the ultimate responsibility for hospital bills. And—under present income tax laws, these premiums are treated as medical expenses of the taxpayer or his dependents for purposes of income tax deductions.

WOOL AND WOOD

And Antiques to Hunt. Spring and the countryside and the pleasures of a drive with the possibility of a good antique "find" at the end of it, are irresistable lures for many shoppers. We're off, this time, to Cranbury and the minute shop of Toni Hastings behind the Cranbury Inn.

The newest old acquisition at the shop is a mellow pine table, just scraped down to its bones and oiled to a loving sheen by Mr. Hastings. It is round, if you remove its center leaf and lift up the brief little wings at each end, oval if you put the leaf in.

Square dowels have been let into the wood to cover the screw tops that join the table together, and they give a pleasing touch to the table top. Legs are turned with a 'look' we can only describe as "tailored."

Shetlands with matching yarn are a year-round treat at Toni Hastings' shop, and we found them this spring in the classic greys and heathers, but also in a surpisingly bright rust, blended discreetly with brown.

West of Scotland woolens come in misty tweeds, splendidly colorful houndstooth plaids (royal and emerald!) and a check of tans, blues and purple.

There are more than 50 different shades of Shetland for knitting, by the way, and this yarn is pure Shetland, without a blending of wool. Skeins are 65 cents an ounce. If you go away this summer, write Toni Hastings for samples, and spend your vacation in stitches.

COME TO OUR FASHION SHOW: Everyone is invited to attend the Fifth Annual Fashion Show sponsored by the Women's Division of the Princeton Jewish Center to be held Monday, at the Compass Restaurant, Route 1, starting at noon. Assisting in the event are, (l. to r.): Mrs. Simon Larach, president of the Division; Mrs. Alvin Maze, publicity; and Mrs. Morris Handelsman, show chairman. Women's and teen's fashions provided by Stacy's will be modeled. (Staff Photo)

In the antiques department, Toni is showing a Staffordshire cow and calf, 10 authoritatively sized Victorian glasses in the Comet Sandwich pattern (with broad-lipped pitcher) and the Victorian Amberina glassware, shading up to ruby from its pale gold beginnings. There are straight-sided thumbprint tumblers and a pitcher with a spherical bottom below a straight waist.

On Parade

Summer clothes and accessories from Stacy Sport Shop will be viewed by members of the Women's Division of the Jewish Center at their fifth annual luncheon and fashion show planned for noontime next Wednesday at the Compass Restaurant. There will also be door prizes and a white elephant sale, Mrs Morria Handelsman, chairman, has announced.

Models will include two teenagers, Miss Harriet Greenblatt and Miss Jill Maze, and the following members of the Center: Mrs. Joseph Markowitz, Mrs. Milton Winters, Mrs. Herbert Gurk, Mrs. Henry Abrams, Mrs. Herbert Yatvin, Mrs. Benjamin Miller, Mrs. George Kerner, Mrs. Donald Goldberger, Mrs Alan Stein, Mrs. Sidney Rosen and Mrs. Norman Seltzer.

Assisting Mrs. Handelsman in planning the affair are: Mrs. Simon Yaffee, Mrs. Milton Horowitz, Mrs. Manfred Rost, Mrs. Samuel Goldman, Mrs. Norman Denard, Mrs. Reuben Cohen, Mrs. Simon Larach, Mrs. Irvin Vine, Mrs. Leonard Hymerling, Mrs. Stanley Pilshaw, Mrs. Irwin Gordon and Mrs. Alvin Maze.

TO PLAY WORK OF PRINCETON COMPOSER: Several of Miss Fine's School's musicians and choral singers who will perform a song cycle, "The Seasons," composed for the school by Princetonian Frank Lewin. Left to right, Mary Young, Linda Fox, Terry Sheehan, Karen Anderson, Sheila Hagen and Anne Spanel. The work will be performed Sunday afternoon at 3:30 at the school.

MUSIC
In Princeton

NEW WORK SCHEDULED

For Miss Fine's Performance, "The Seasons," composed by Frank Lewin of Princeton for Miss Fine's School, will receive its premiere performance this Sunday at 3:30 at the school. The public is invited.

Using as his text for the song cycle a group of poems by the Elizabethan Thomas Nashe, Mr. Lewin has written nine brief movements, interspersing the song portions with instrumental music for flute, horn, cello, oboe, and trumpet.

Fadlou Shehadi, baritone, will be the soloist and the Middle School Glee Club and the Madrigal Group will be the chorus. The Glee Club is composed of seventh and eighth graders and the Madrigal Group of eleventh and twelfth grade pupils.

Members of the faculty at Miss Fine's and assistant musicians from the community will join in the presentation.

Preceding "The Seasons" will be Johann Sebastian Bach's "Wie will ich mich freuen" from the Cantata 146 and "Bist du bei mir" from the Notebook of Anna Magdalena Bach.

A LITTLE LIGHT MUSIC

By Princeton Glee Club. For its annual Houseparties Concert, the Princeton Glee Club has chosen a program of predominantly light music, featuring musical satires, folk-songs and college songs.

The Glee Club will sing this Friday from 8:15 to 9:15 in Alexander Hall. Tickets, at $1.50, will be available at the hall or at the University store.

Among the Club's selections will be offerings from "The Pinsk Medley" a group of satires on the Russian male chorus, and some material from last year's successful "visit" by the Pinsk Song and Spy Society.

There will also be a demonstration of the Club's ability to sing below the range of human hearing, presentation of a modern folk-tale deriving its inspiration from the collective form, and a musical version of a high-level meeting in Peiping.

The group will also sing compositions by Offenbach,

CANCER PROJECT WINS

Trip to Seattle Fair. Dorothy Worthington, 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Worthington, 158 E. Delaware Avenue, Pennington, left for the Seattle's World Fair Tuesday as one of some 300 students in the country who will compete in the National Science Fair.

Miss Worthington was the grand prize winner in the girls' senior division of the Greater Trenton Science Fair last month. The Hopewell Township Central High School sophomore won with her project, "Is Cancer Affected By Atmospheric Conditions?" She will be accompanied to the Fair by her biology teacher, Miss Maude Oldis.

Miss Worthington's project involved infecting mice with cancer by applying coal tar, a carcinogenic agent, to them under control conditions of temperature and humidity. The next step, a highly tedious one, according to Miss Worthington, involved transferring specimens of the mice's skin to microscopic slides. The slides were diagnosed by Dr. William H. Loery, pathologist at Princeton Hospital.

The former Houston, Tex., girl reported that she has been interested in animals and biology as long as she can remember. The person who probably helped her the most in developing her interest in biology and in entering science fairs was Douglas Dickinson, her eighth grade science teacher, Dorothy recalled. She hopes to enter the field of medical research after school.

Miss A. E. (Lida) Tunnell, 12 Princeton Avenue, will have a one man show of her watercolors and drawings at the Roger Price Gallery in New York City from May 13 through June 2. A graduate of Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y., Miss Tunnell studied watercolor with Alfred Fuller at Monhegan, Maine, and continued art at Chautauqua Institute, the University of Colorado and received her master's degree from Temple University. Her paintings are on exhibit in galleries in Chicago and in Gallery 100, Nassau Street.

Lewis B. Cuyler of 32 Edgehill Street has been elected president of the Association for the Aid of Crippled Children. cal enterprise. The experience that one derives from literature is somewhat independent from the period in which one lives. There are certain enduring experiences which "great literature" captures.

F. Paul Henderson, 167 Laurel Circle, military research, RCA Labs: I agree that the association with the classics was often painful and meaningless. I think the reason is two-fold: 1) some of the books themselves even today I wouldn't want to read because I don't consider them good literature. This is a matter of personal taste. 2) The way the classics were taught. For example, my introduction with Shakespeare was painful. I had a pedantic teacher who felt the best way to appreciate Shakespeare was to memorize whole passages. I wasn't taught to read an enjoy. Finally, I think what they should teach in literature is some of both. There is no reason why a book has to be 100 years old to be considered literature and taught in school.

BAND TO PERFORM

On Successive Tuesdays. The steps of Nassau Hall provide the stage for the Princeton University Band's series of three spring evening concerts, of which the second will be held next Tuesday at 7.

Audiences sit oo the grass, Tanglewood fashion, and the concerts are free. At each one, the band will play Robert Leist's "Princeton Medley" (Mr. Leist is conductor of the band), and songs from "West Side Story."

Next Tuesday it will play, in addition, Handel's Prelude and Fugue in D Minor; "Procession of the Nobles" by Rimsky-Korsakoff and a symphonic suite by Clifton Williams.

MISS BARTON TO SING

Mezzo-Contralto. Jenneke Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Barton, 25 Springdale Road, will appear in public recital Monday, May 14, at 2:40 at Miss Fine's School.

The young mezzo-contralto will sing from the works of Gluck, Schubert and Faure and will offer in addition, a group of contemporary songs written to verses by Shakespeare.

A graduate of Miss Fine's and of Wellesley, Miss Barton attended the New England Conservatory of Music and has appeared as soloist with several chural societies in New England. She created a major role in Randall Thompson's church opera, "The Nativity according to St. Luke," and she will appear this summer, as in previous seasons, with the Sante Fe Opera.

Has poor health made you uninsurable?

It can come to many people—a serious health problem before they own enough life insurance to meet their family's minimum requirements. If this has happened to you or if your application for insurance has been declined on a medical basis recently, we suggest you check with the Man from Manufacturers.

He represents a company that believes life insurance should be available to as wide a group of people as possible. Manufacturers Life in fact was a pioneer in offering life insurance to men and women with diabetes. Many people with coronary artery disease have qualified for Manufacturers Life policies over the past 8 years. Our experience with both these impairments has enabled us to revise rates downward.

Whatever your physical condition you can be sure of careful and individual consideration of your application at the Manufacturers Life.

BIG DAY AT THE LAKE

But Tigers Not Favored. Seven races—two of them for traditional trophies—will be rowed on Carnegie Lake Saturday, with the crews of five colleges competing. With thousands lining the west bank, many of them participants in Princeton's annual houseparty weekend, the climactic event will be staged for the Compton Cup among the varsities of Harvard, MIT and Princeton. Rutgers, a starter by invitation, is not eligible for the cup, which Harvard is defending.

Earlier in the day, the 150-lb. crews of Penn and Princeton will compete for the Wood-Hammond Cup, with Harvard as a guest participant. In all, there will be three lightweight races over the mile and 5/16ths course starting at 3:15 and four among the heavyweight shells covering a mile and three-quarters. The Wood-Hammond Cup will go up for contention at 3:45, and the Compton Cup at 5.

A major part of the bright dreams of a surprisingly successful rowing season at Princeton was shattered last weekend with Pennsylvania's victory on the Harlem River. The Quakers won the Childs Cup by better than two lengths, with Columbia second to defeat the Tigers for the first time in more than two decades.

Indication of the problems that confront the Orange and Black along the comeback trail is provided by the fact that the Lions' shell caught a crab with a mile to go, fell a length behind and still came back to beat Princeton by three-quarters of a length. The lightness of the Tiger oarsmen (180 pounds) in choppy water was a handicap they could not solve.

Harvard the Pick. Winner of the Compton Cup for the last four years, Harvard is expected to finish first again Saturday. A better-than-average Tech boat could earn runner-up honors, as might either Princeton or Rutgers. The Tigers hold a season-opening victory over the Scarlet, but could find it difficult to repeat; they face the possibility of finishing last if they do not row a better race than last Saturday.

Penn is the likely victor in the Wood-Hammond Cup event, although it might win the trophy by finishing second with Harvard first. Cornell's 150-lb. crew defeated Princeton last week on Carnegie by three-quarters of a length.

Softball Strikes Out

For the first time in 15 years, organized softball open to pick-up teams will not be a part of the Princeton scene. In the past, as many as three leagues, some with eight teams each, played a full schedule, completing the season with a triple-header and trophy presentations.

Interest began to wane, however, with the men's leagues consolidating and the girls fading out of the picture entirely. Last summer, only four men's teams played, and defaults were frequent.

The 1961 champion, Ivy Inn, has made plans to enter the Trenton Fast-Pitch League, its decision ending all likelihood of community softball action here. Informal softball will be offered by the YMCA as one of its outdoor activities, but organized competition is not planned. The Princeton Business Softball League, composed of six teams representing various firms in the area, is expected to be in action again.

Harvard has the best defense that Ferris Thomsen's team will see in the league, while its solid attack is built around Grady Watts and Joe Prahl, a pair of the Crimson's Ivy hockey champions. A Princeton victory this weekend will be a major achievement.

BALL TEAM SPLITS

Falls to Second Division. A 3-2 victory over Brown was followed by an 11-3 lambasting at the hands of league-leading Harvard last weekend, the resulting 2-3 record on the season dropping the Princeton baseball team to sixth place in the Eastern League. The Tigers go to New Brunswick Friday to meet Rutgers in a return game, play host to Villanova on Clarke Field Saturday at 2:30 and resume league action next Wednesday against Penn at Philadelphia.

Sophomore Gerry Skey added to his reputation as the team's most reliable pitcher with a six-hit triumph over Brown at Providence. The Tigers scored twice in the first and led all the way. Skey

"We Won, Anyway"

The Princeton freshman baseball team yielded 13 runs to the Lehigh freshmen at Bethlehem, Pa., Friday and made ten errors. But it won, 14 to 13.

The home team erased a 12-6 deficit with seven in its half of the eighth, taking a 13-12 lead. The unrattled Tiger cubs promptly shoved over two in their half of the ninth to wrap it up.

Steve Depperman (who won his second game in two days when he went the distance against RMI Saturday for a 10-1 decision) nailed down the triumph in relief. Coach Dick Vaughan's team is now 5-1 on the season.

staying around to quell an uprising in the ninth that brought the losers within one run of a tie.

The pitching shortage that has bothered the team all season was felt again at Cambridge. The Tigers were no worse than 3-all in the seventh but Harvard's powerful entry broke the tie with a single run and then broke open the game with seven more in the eighth. Six of these were unearned.

Penn Schoolwerth started for the Tigers, gave way to Paul Lahti and two others followed in an attempt to stem the rout. It was 1953 when Princeton last won the title in this sport, with the current season likely to complete a decade during which the Orange and Black has largely been out of contention.

OTHER SPORTS

Track Loss to Harvard. Perennial weakness with the weights in the field events cost the track team any chance to defeat Harvard, the Crimson sweeping the discus, hammer and shot for 27 points and an 84-69 triumph. Princeton will be at Yale this weekend.

Lou Hitzrot was a double winner for the Tigers in the 220 (22.0) and the 440 (49.9). Chris Ohiri, a Nigerian who is a sensation in soccer, won the 100 in 9.9 and tied for first in the hop, skip and jump for Harvard.

John Conroy's tennis team continued to roll along in defense of its Eastern Association title in tennis, defeating Cornell 9-0. Brown and Harvard are on the schedule this weekend on a New English trip. The golfers defeated Army but lost to Georgetown here Saturday; they'll entertain Yale this Saturday at 1:30.

WOMEN GOLFERS MEET

At Springdale. A luncheon at which 75 members were present opened the season last week for women members of the Springdale Golf Club. Mrs. James Whelan, chairman of the association for 1962, presided.

Mrs. Eugene York won the putting contest, with Mrs. John Cullen second. Qualifying for the spring tournament has been scheduled for Tuesday.

LITTLE TIGERS NO MATCH

For Trenton High Nine. "If you haven't got the pitching, there isn't much you can do in high school ball."

The helplessness voiced by PHS baseball coach Harry Zoll was underlined Thursday when visiting Trenton High teed off on three Little Tigers hurlers for 16 hits, including eight doubles and one home run, to smother the Blue and White, 15-2. It was the losers' fourth defeat in five games.

The THS cannonading started at once. An opening walk issued by PHS starter Jim Quinn was followed in rapid fashion by a home run by Earl Lombardo, the Tornadoes' hot third baseman, a single, a double, and another single for four runs. That was to be more than enough.

Quinn and his equally impotent successors, Dave Shields and Tom Stemmle, were racked for 11 more runs in the following six innings. THS hurler Hal Race limited the losers to three hits, one a home run by Ray Britton in the last inning with a mate on board to account for the home team's only runs. Early in the game, after its outcome was a foregone conclusion, THS coach Carl Palumbo emptied his bench.

Zoll commented that there was nothing cheap about the runs Trenton scored. "They were all solid knocks and you don't mind losing that way," he said, adding, "that's baseball." But there was little doubt that a weak pitching effort opened the flood gates for Trenton.

The Little Tigers will have ample opportunity to redeem themselves this week. They will play four games in six days, starting with Freehold, Thursday; Ewing, Friday; Hunterdon Central, Monday; and Ewing again Tuesday. The second Ewing game was originally scheduled to be the Little Tiger's opener but was rained out. That and the Freehold contests will be played at Princeton High's Harris Field, starting at 3:30.

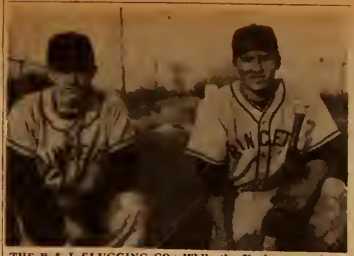
PHS TO MEET EWING

Does Well At Penn Relays. The Princeton High track team, currently 2-1 in dual meet competition, will face Ewing High School Friday at Ewing, starting at 3:45. Coach Jerry Groninger of the Blue and White reported that the meet "could very easily go either way" and that "a lot could depend just on having everybody there."

Saturday, a Little Tiger mile relay team placed fifth in a field of 13 in a class mile at the Penn Relays that pitted schools against one another according to enrollment. Running for PHS were Tom Bogia, John Bensinger, Don Zuber and Bruce Baxter. The team's time of 3:38 was only four or five seconds off the winning pace set by Fordham Prep, New York City, according to Groninger. "The first five teams were bunched close up to the end of the race," he added.

Earlier last week, the Little Tigers defeated Hamilton, 73½ to 43½. Co-Captain Bogia was the only double winner for the victors, capturing first place in the 100 and 220-yard events. The team's other co-captain, Joe Cox, took first in the discus.

Other first place winners included Baxter in the quarter mile; Bensinger, half mile; Henry Schmidt, mile; Jack Kelley, javelin, and Gary Mount in the shot. Mount's winning toss of 49'7" represented his best effort to date and Groninger feels that he will soon hit 50 feet if he keeps developing at his present rate. The two teams tied for first in the pole vault and the high jump.



THE B & L SLUGGING CO.: While the Yankees may have the M Boys, Princeton High School can boast a counterpart in Ray Britton (left) and captain Dave Lanning. Both boys are currently belting the ball at better than .400 to lead the Little Tiger nine in batting. (Staff Photo)

HUN SWAMPS OPPONENT

In Lacrosse. The Hun School lacrosse team swept to its third victory in four games this season by walloping visiting New York Military Academy, 15-0. Ironically, Coach Hawley Waterman reported that his team was missing numerous shots in the opening minutes of the game and he felt that Hun was going to lose.

Captain Pete Savidge soon eliminated any apprehension Waterman may have had by scoring five goals in the second period (two coming within 13 seconds of each other) and two more later in the game for a total of seven. Teammate Jack Macauley of Princeton added three more. Waterman reported it was the highest score ever amassed by the Red and Black in the sport.

HUN WINS PAIR

To Remain Undefeated. The unbeaten Hun School nine will attempt to extend its winning streak at the expense of Bryn Athyn Friday in an away game and will oppose Peddie on its home diamond Wednesday.

Coach Sanford Bing reported that his hard-hitting team should be able to get by Bryn Athyn but that Peddie would be out to avenge the 13-3 defeat Hun administered to the Blue and Gold last spring. "Peddie always comes up with a good team," Bing said, "and we're looking forward to playing it. We're expecting plenty of competition."

Last week, the Red and Black took a big step toward a perfect season when it defeated the two teams which Bing had predicted, "could make or break us. The pair of victories that upped Hun's record to 3-0 were recorded over Tower Hill and previously unbeaten Germantown. The scores were 7 to 6 and 6 to 3.

The big win was Germantown. To beat the Quakers, the visiting Red and Black had to face a team that was unbeaten in three starts and boasted a pitcher that had struck out 45 batters in three games. The best he could do against Hun, however, was five and "the outcome of the game was never in doubt," according to Bing.

After two scoreless innings, a walk and two singles filled the bases for Hun in the third. Clean-up hitter and co-captain Paul Savidge knocked in two runs with a line drive double. Co-captain Gary Grover followed with a home run and three more runs to apply the crusher.

The winning pitcher was Frank "Smokie" Black who limited the losers to five hits. Hun had nine. It marked the second time in two years that both teams were undefeated at the time of their meeting and the second time Hun has won.

Earlier in the week, the Johnny Huns came from behind to edge Tower Hill, scoring six runs in the bottom of the sixth. The big blow was Grover's bases-loaded triple.

Smokie Black then won his own ball game by driving in the seventh and winning run with a single. "It was an uphill battle all the way," said Bing. "But it proved that the team won't fall apart when it falls behind and that it can come back and win."

News Of The CHURCHES

FINAL LECTURES LISTED

By Dr. Karl Barth. The final two lectures by Swiss Theologian Karl Barth (see "Man of the Week") in his series of six will be given this Thursday and Friday at 7:45 p.m. in the University Chapel. He is the last of seven internationally-known church figures who have been lecturing here to mark the first two weeks of Princeton Seminary's Sesquicentennial Celebration.

The next event in the 14-month celebration will be the June 3-5 Commencement.

Stated Clerk Eugene Carson Blake of the United Presbyterian Church, Henry R. Luce, of Time, Inc., and President Franklin Clark Fry of the United Lutheran Church will be the speakers.

The Rev. Mr. Blake will give the Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, June 3, in the Seminary's Miller Chapel. President Fry will speak at commencement exercises on Tuesday, June 5 in the Princeton University Chapel, and Mr. Luce will address the alumni on June 4, on the topic, "Challenge to the Church."

Also scheduled for Alumni Day is a lecture by James Barr, Professor of Old Testament, and a series of departmental presentations on trends and developments in theological education.

RETREAT PLANNED

By Area Young People. Sixty-one teenagers from the Junior High and Senior High Young Peoples groups of the Presbyterian churches in Kingston, Kendall Park, Monmouth Junction, Dayton and Plainsboro will leave at 4:30 next Friday, May 11, for a retreat at the New Jersey Synod Camp, Island Heights.

The theme for the weekend, "Spiritual Fitness," will be integrated into the study, worship and recreational activities. The Rev. Graham Griffin will be principal speaker.

Discussion leaders will be Mrs. Peggy Houser, Mrs. Theta Duffy, Mrs. Shirley Stryker, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Chase, Mr. and Mrs. John Maltby, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Wolf, Allen Beach, James Murray, the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Brixey, the Rev. James Darroch, the Rev. Robert Blackwell and the Rev. Dr. Jarvis Morris.

BULLETIN NOTES

● The founder of the Men's Breakfast Club of Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, the Rev. M. Allen Kimble, will address the Club at 8 Sunday morning at the Nassau Inn. The Rev. Mr. Kimble is now pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church, Wyncote, Pa.

● The Council of United Church Women of Princeton has received a generous gift from the Elizabeth Taylor Bryd Fund which will enable two needy children to attend camp this summer. With donations from nine member churches and the offering at the May Fellowship luncheon this Friday, the Council hopes to increase the number of underprivileged children at camp this year.

● The Evening Group of the Episcopal Church Women will hear Dr. Lee H. Bristol, Jr. tell about the life and work of the late Robert N. Spencer, Bishop of Western Missouri, at their meeting at 8 next Thursday at All Saints' Chapel. Dr. Bristol is the author of a biography of Bishop Spencer.

Mrs. Mary B. Everett, 102, died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. Nelson Tower, Sr., 21 Russell Road.

The widow of the late Nelson S. Everett, she was born in Middlebush on August 5, 1859, and was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church, Neshanic. In addition to her daughter, she is survived by three grandsons, a granddaughter and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Dutch Reformed Church, the Rev. Robert Henninges officiating. Interment was in Neshanic Cemetery under the direction of Mather Funeral Home.

James A. Cray, 87, died April 25 in the Middlesex Hospital for the Care of the Chronically Ill. A lifelong resident of Hopewell, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Myrtle McVeigh of North Brunswick, Mrs. Amy Rule of North Plainfield, and Mrs. Mamie Schumaker of Canada; ten grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The service was held at the Farr Funeral Home and interment was in Stoutsburg Cemetery.

Mrs. Cora Wentworth, 79, died April 28 at the home of her son, Chandler Wentworth, 42 Linden Lane. The widow of M. Kimball Wentworth, she was born in Groveland, Mass., and attended the New England Conservatory of Music.

In addition to her son, she is survived by a sister, Miss Bertha Chandler of LaPorte, Pa., and three grandchildren. The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home and interment was in Bradford, Mass.

Mrs. Isabel Eggert, 90, of 45 Linden Lane, died April 26 in Princeton Hospital. Born in New York, she was the widow of Joseph Eggert and is survived by three nieces.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, with the Rev. Charles W. Marker, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Fannie Brawn O'Dell, 80, of Lewisville Road, Lawrenceville, died April 27.

Widow of George O'Dell, she is survived by a brother, George Brown of Hackensack; 10 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. She lived with her niece, Mrs. Fannie Bosley.

The funeral was held in the Calvery Baptist Church, Hopewell, with the Rev. John A. Gaines officiating. Burial was in Ewing Cemetery.

Giuseppe Telese, 82, of 16 Oakland Road died April 27 at his home.

He is survived by four sons, Frank and Salvatore of Princeton; Anthony of Jersey City and Vincent of California; two daughters, Mrs. John Cullen of Lake Hiawatha and Mrs. Anthony Imperato of Clifton; a sister, Mrs. Angelina Cuomo of Princeton.

The funeral was held in New York.

Emil Gotthilf, 75, died April 29 at his home, Grandview Avenue, Hopewell. He operated a farm in Hopewell for 22 years.

Mr. Gotthilf is survived by his wife, Mrs. Herta Gotthilf; two sons, Eric, of Minneapolis, Minn., and Ernest, of Buffalo, N. Y.; a daughter in Israel; a brother, Walter, of Houston, Texas, and a sister in Venezuela.

The funeral service was held at the Schutzbank Memorial Chapel, Rabbi Aaron Kress of the Princeton Jewish Center officiating. Interment was in Floral Park Cemetery, Deans.

Mrs. Blanche Thompson Hann, 57, a native of Hightstown, died April 28 in Bryn Mawr, Pa. She was the daughter of the late William H. Thompson, former owner of the Hightstown Rug Co. and once mayor of the borough.

Her survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Gunnard Ribini of Toledo, Ohio; a sister, Mrs. Catherine Parker of Elmira, N. Y., and two grandchildren. The service was held at a Hightstown funeral home, with the Rev. Terry L. Burch of the Baptist Church officiating. Cremation followed.

WHITLOW HONORED

For Service To Legion. Life membership in the American Legion was conferred on James Whitlow last week at a dinner attended by 100 members and friends at Post 76 headquarters, 35 Mercer Street. The honor is given only with the approval of national headquarters of the Legion following a review of the member's record of service.

A charter member of Princeton Post, Mr. Whitlow is now in his 44th year with the organization. He organized and for many years directed the post firing squad, and in 1938 was post commander.

As a member of the New Jersey National Guard, Mr. Whitlow went on active duty in March, 1917, and later took part in the Alsace and Meuse-Argonne campaigns in France as a member of the 111th Machine Gun battalion.

He retired in 1956 after having worked for 38 years in the University's Sheet Metal Shop. Mr. and Mrs. Whitlow live on the Somerville Road near Princeton Airport.

Sports In Princeton

62 to 60 in the B League at the end of last week. Walker-Gordon (56), Balestrieri (55) and Ivy Inn (52) follow.

In the Classic League, the Pine Tree Bar (36½) kept its half-point margin over Colonial Restaurant with Princeton Market (33½) in third place. Physics (69) led Engineering and Accelerator, each 64, in the Faculty League, while Conover Motors broke its tie with Nassau Del in the Women's League by moving out to front, 86 to 83. Cranbury Bank (82) and Amron Homes (79) lead the rest of the pack.

Fred Procaccini bowled a 235 game, Joe Trani, 226, Joe Baldino, 224, and Bob Pressley, 223. Other good scores were Lee Ellington and Joe Viglione, 212, Jay Luckey and Bill Bailey, 210; Mike Basilio and Al Hibbard, 205; Ed Hoffman, 216, and Frank Maddalon, 213.

Among the women, Sara Rose had a 315 series with high games of 192 and 170. Billy Snyder picked up a 7-6-10 split; Louise Reickard a 3-6 and a 7-10; and Bette Watson a 5-6-10.

A place for everything beautiful . . . in a setting of proud traditions

. . . just 4 minutes from Princeton.

Cross the Princeton line into Rocky Hill. Into rich, fertile rolling land, bordering the wooded Millstone River. Into a town favored with views of the Hopewell Valley and Sourland Mountains. Into a warm, Colonial community with each home on its own acre or more . . . set back fifty to a hundred feet.

Cross the Princeton line into Rocky Hill, and your children still go to Princeton Borough Schools. You still live within an easy 4 minutes of Princeton cultural facilities, shopping and the Belle Mead or the Princeton railroad station.

Cross the Princeton line into Rocky Hill, and enjoy the advantages of a low tax rate . . . in a complete community with city water, Public Service gas and electricity, curbs and sidewalks.

Cross the Princeton line into Rocky Hill today and see dignified homes of authentic colonial design.

Cross the Princeton line into Rocky Hill, and live in a home and community of Princeton-inspired luxury . . . in an area of colonial heritage . . . and save thousands of dollars.

LAST WEEK we ran a picture of a lovely small farm with an old Colonial overlooking the Canal. It had 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, 4 fireplaces, etc., and could be purchased at $47,500 with 50 acres or $33,500 with two acres. The owner wants an immediate sale and the prices have been reduced to only $45,000 with 50 acres and $29,950 with two acres. It has Princeton phone and address and is quite a buy at these new prices.

One of the most charming, light and airy Princeton homes it has been our pleasure to list with three or four bedrooms and three baths. The delightful family room takes you outdoors to patio, pool and trees. $45,000.

Unusual in its spaciousness, fabulous in its wooded setting, conservative in appearance, this well-built versatile Township ranch is a must to see—five bedrooms, three baths, porch, two-car garage and a basement. $59,500.

We have been authorized to offer this gracious prestige home at a price well below its market value. Quality built at a time when construction was an art with spaciousness emphasized, its many bedrooms and 4½ baths lend themselves to well-run family life. A garden party on the grounds would be sheer delight and entertaining in the family room could well transport your guests to bygone days. You owe it to yourself to see this lovely home at $55,000

Township split near high school with four bedrooms, 2½ baths, playroom, small study, porch, and patio. Under $30,000.

Four bedroom Township contemporary ranch, completely equipped for comfortable living and beautifully kept. Two baths, double carport. $27,500.

Country ranch, convenient to Princeton, with three bedrooms, space for a fourth, two baths, large family room, two-car garage $29,500.

SECRETARIES

We are interviewing now for positions which will be open in late May and through June when some of our student wives will be leaving this area.

Most of these positions do not demand shorthand. Apart from good typing skill and above average verbal ability, job duties will require flexibility in working with a variety of detail in some cases including answering routine correspondence and performing computations for reports, etc.

Excellent opportunity for advancement to administrative responsibilities.

For Appointment call WA 1-9000, ext. 263.
